

Weather Watch – Bringing the Science of Meteorology into Entertaining Web Programming

Shane Brown and Matthew Moore

What is Weather Watch?

Weather Watch is Millersville University's exclusive weather news web-show run entirely by student meteorologists. We go beyond the forecast to inform and enlighten our viewers about the world of weather around them.

What is Our Goal?

Our goal at Weather Watch is to provide professional quality programming to the general public that is both educational and entertaining. We like to think of it as exposing the science behind weather in a format that everyone can enjoy.

What is Our Story?

Weather Watch was created in 2012 as a creative outlet for students having an interest in broadcasting. Since then, we have produced two seasons of episodes that have been viewed thousands of times in over 30 countries.
